Removal of pews proposed by church

A CANNOCK church has sparked concern revealed plans to remove some of its pews. St Luke's Church wants to ove four pews in the side aisles.

It comes after St Anne's in Chasetown announced the replacement of its pews last month to create more space for community groups.

St Luke's vicar, Rev Peter Hart insists his plans are small in comparison.

"We are not doing any major re-order, nor are we going to create a different worship place.

"We are only talking about the possibility of removing a few pews in the side aisles which are hardly used."

The pews were paid for by the congregation and installed during the 1970s. One member who did not want to be named, said: "My family has been involved in the church for generations and I will fight against this because this could be the start of things to come."

Our Lady of Lourdes in Hednesford re-installed its pews last month after replacing them with chairs many years ago.

Amanda's out of Africa for new chapter in life

ARRIVING as a young bride in colonial southern Africa, Amanda Parkyn put pen to paper to share her experiences with her family back home.

More than half a century later, those letters, discovered in an old suitcase, proved to be the inspiration for a book by the Penkridge author.

Amanda was given them back by her parents when she returned from Africa in 1985 and settled in Stafford-

She says: "I put them away until about six years ago when my imagination was stimulated by reading a book about someone else's memories of southern Africa at the turn of the century before I lived there. I knew I had to write about my time there.

Amanda wrote home every week over three years, leading to a collection of almost 200 airmail letters—penned at a time of great political change in the colonies.

Servants

Amanda learned to keep house, to become 'madam' to a succession of servants, eagerly trying to fit in.But she also writes of uncovering her unease at being white among black Africans, and, perhaps most disturbingly, her casual racism and colonial attitudes. "My middle brother came out to stay with us for a couple of months when he was 18 and it was his completely honest letters home describing my behaviour, such as shouting at the servants, that appalled me most."

Homes of Partnership reduces taxpayer's subsidy District's

against guarantors

THE Government wants parents of those starting out on the property ladder to be guarantors for their rent or mortgage. But the criteria in this age of high unemployment, benefit cuts, debts and people who can only afford to rent instead of buying, needs looking at. I was recently asked to be a guarantor. The criteria was that I was a homeownerpass; That I was over 34 - pass; That I did not have any debt issue - fail and I had to be working - fail.

I have £80,000 in my property, and my daughter is in full-time employment and had lived at her current address for six years without any late or non-payment of rent. But I was turned down, even though I had been guarantor on her previous property, and despite the marvellous payment my daughter had always made. Even my son, who rents but is a manager on high wages, was not allowed to be guarantor. One of our relatives stepped in, but how are people going to support children as guarantors with these regulations? PAUL ROGERS Rugeley

Appreciative of care

I WOULD like to tell of the excellent care my husband received at Stafford Hospital in his journey through the emergency department to the acute medical ward and on to discharge. The ward staff were attentive and the food, my husband reported as being excellent. We are not locals, just on holiday here, so have no vested interest in local affairs. We are just appreciative of the good care given by all those we came into contact with at Stafford Hospital.

Government blamed for council's failings

I CANNOT believe our council leader is trying to make a political stance for his own party's incompetence about affordable and social homes.

He is trying to blame the Government to cover up what the authority is doing with its own homes like the old council estate off Limepit Lane. They have allowed private companies to take over so they can build new houses and sell most of them for vast profits. In return they rent a very small proportion to families on the council house list.

The Government has handed over responsibility to local councils for building, so they (the councils) say how many should be affordable houses. This council needs to stop blaming common declaration or failure. blaming everyone else for its own failings

All capitalist states have national debt

THE party conference season is in full swing and all will fret over the national debt. Heated debate will ensue as to whether 'tis wiser to cut public spending or increase it, to ease the debt burden.

But it is a pointless argument, seeing as the national debt is the very backbone of capitalism. It is the means by which capital systematically plunders the public purse, safe in the knowledge that its usury is fully guaranteed and underwritten by the taxnaver.

ten by the taxpayer.

That is why every capitalist state must always have its national debt, but never a national wealth. For without its spine of debt, capital would slither and starve, all for the

Photographers warned over deer hide on Chase

Faye Burton with the deer hide set up by photographers on the Chase

AMATEUR photographers have been warned they are putting their lives in danger after building a den to get close-up pictures of deer.

Camouflaged, sturdy and painstak-ingly created – the den has been built on Cannock Chase. But they have been warned they could be charged by the animals and gored by their antlers during rutting season

The Rural Policing Liaison Group said people were also leaving potato peelings and other food out for the deer and then hiding away to get a of people are involved.

The den is now being taken down by rangers on the chase.

Poachers

Liaison group spokesman Faye Burton, who also helped to establish Poacher Watch in 2010, only last month appealed for spy cameras to catch wildlife poachers targeting farms and beauty spots across Staffordshire.

That came after a deer was found shot on Cannock Chase. But now she is also warning people of the dangers of taking photos.

"The stags are trying to keep their herds together and they see people and then charge."
Ms Burton said rangers found the wooden hut and it was also posing a danger to the animals themselves.

She added: "The deer are used to getting all their food in one place now. It means poachers can come along and shoot them."

That's my boy! Jack lauded as ife-saver

A QUICK-thinking teenager has been honoured for his life-saving intervention when his mother was taken ill at the wheel as she travelled down the motorway at 50mph.

The Cheslyn Hay Sport & Community High School pupil picked up his surprise reward from scout county commissioner Paula Evans at a packed Cheslyn Hay Community & Sports

AN historic chancel and church tower have had a £1,500 boost to help safeguard them.
Both structures in Rugeley have deteriorated significantly in recent times and are in desperate need of further attention. A campaign to save them has now been launched.
The chancel, built in the 12th century, has remained unused for many years, with St Augustine's Church opposite being the main place of worship since 1823. The money has come from the Staffordshire local communities fund following a request by county councillor Geoff Martin. Repair work will stabilise the arcade that connects the chancel to the 13th century church tower. However further fundraising will be needed to pay for remedial work to both buildings to make them safe.

of pounds after claiming he could help solve her money worries has been ordered to pay it all back.

Stephen Kenway, aged 60, was also ordered to pay more £620 costs.

Cannock magistrates heard Kenway visited the victim at her home after her bankruptcy details were published in the London Gazette. The woman, who had recently lost her husband and young grandson, received a letter from HJ Consultancy, which said it could help her seek an annulment for free. A home visit was arranged and a fee of £350 was requested.

The victim said she was under the impression that the fee meant he would go to court for her and she would no longer be bankrupt. Kenway was ordered to pay back the £350 to his victim. He was also given a 12-month community order and ordered to undertake 150 hours of unpaid work.

They said he had made money from a woman in emotional distress following two deaths in her family. Magistrates added she had been worried she was going to lose her home and had "buried her head in the sand" over her financial difficulties.

Kenway, of Rhyl, had originally denied fraud by false representation but was found

Representing himself, he told the court the money he charged her was to cover his travel costs and time spent on the case.

Chairman of the bench Geoffrey Lacey, said Kenway had been "vague and evasive" when questioned.

A classic close to perfection

A CLOSE to perfect production by Birming-ham Royal Ballet of the best known of all ballet works was an absolute treat.

There was no tinkering with the classic ingredients, this was Peter Wright's 1981 choreography derived from late 19th century work of Ivanov and Petipa.

Costumes

The sumptuous Eastern European costumes matched the lush romanticism of Tchaikovsky's music, played with vigour by the Royal Ballet Sinfonia.

On Saturday Yorkshire ballerina Natasha

Oughtred, almost as expressive with her eyes as her feet, danced the dual role of Odette/Odile, and the powerful Matthew Lawrence was her prince. Their energy was thrilling. Their control awesome.

The famous scene which begins act IV, in which 'swans' rise from the misty lake, drew an appreciative gasp from the audience.

It bodes well for a magical Cinderella from the company at the Hippodrome from November 21.

benefit changes

RESIDENTS in Burntwood can have their say on proposed Council Tax benefit changes.

Under Government proposals to localise council tax benefit schemes, local authorities have to decide their own eligibility criteria and how to handle the 10 per cent funding cuts. Lichfield District Council's cabinet is running a consulting on its proposals for the area until November 7.

Councillor Sue Woodward is urging residents to have a say. She said: "This is a real poisoned chalice for local councils as they will each be obliged to set up and administer their own schemes but with far less money from Government.

The decision was made after Mizkan bought out Premier Foods vinegar and pickles business in June, taking over the Sarsons and Haywards brands.

Andrew Cartwright, Mizkan general manager, said: "The staff are all really disappointed by this decision.

Ali Nikpay, senior direct and decision maker in the sace, has defended his decess. Potential buyers have been in talks with the factory since news of its closure was announced and it is hoped a deal will be struck over the coming months.

Ali Nikpay, senior director and decision maker in the case, has defended his decision to sell the Burntwood factory, formerly known as Manor Vinegar.

It has operated from its New Road premises since the 1950s and since 2002 has been the base for Mizkan's UK and European operation

Mr Nikpay said: "The Mr Nikpay said: "The companies are the two leading suppliers of malt and spirit vinegars in the UK, especially to food processor customers and supermarkets.

"A number of these customers told us that the transaction would result in the merged entity having a monopoly position and would therefore result in price increases."

Councillors Sue Woodward and Steve Norman are urging the public to speak out about the proposed plans to make services including performing arts and outdoor education private.

Award is given to safer railway line

THE RAIL line passing through the Chase has won a top award for keeping passen-gers safe from crime.

gers safe from crime.

Every station on the Chase Line between Tame Bridge Parkway and Rugeley Town has been given an award for safety. The line also passes through Rugeley Trent Valley, Hednesford, Cannock and Landywood.

The award follows a £900,000 package of improvements last year by Centro, train operator London Midland and Network Rail. This included crime-busting cameras; crime-busting cameras, better lighting, fencing and new passenger shelters.

Judges from the Secure Station Scheme, run by the Department for Transport, inspected all of the stations. The number of offences on the Chase Line fell by more than 25 per cent last year over the 12 months up to March 31 this year.

Partnership

Councillor Roger Horton. Councillor Roger Horton, Centro's lead member for transforming rail travel, said: "These Secure Station awards are a reflection of that hard work in partner-ship with train operator London Midland as well as the recent station improve-ments such as CCTV ments such as CCTV cameras and better lighting which have both helped to deter crime.

Grand Theatre A TROUPE of adorable Von Trapp chil-

A TROUPE of adorable Von Trapp children and two excellent performances in the lead roles meant this amateur production of The Sound of Music was second to...nun.

This was South Staffs Musical Theatre Company's first staging of the nuns versus Nazis classic since 1988, though it is the first time that two ofthe 'nuns' are pregnant – Alison Southall and Samantha Walker – so it was just as well those habits are a generous size.

Opulent 1930s Austria is a big ask for any set designer on a budget but these sets were effective, if somewhat wobbly, and there is still something rather unnerving about seeing a giant swastika unfurled.

Rapport

South Staffs surely had no problem finding their Maria with Wolverhampton student Claudia Gilmour in their ranks. Right from her opening "the hills are alive", her rendition of the title song assured the audience they were in capable hands. She can act too, taking Maria from childlike to capable maternal figure during the show's two and a half hour running time.

Miss Gilmour had a rapport with the seven children and also with her Captain Von Trapp, as evidenced by a long lingering kiss!

Tim Brown made a handsome and dashing Captain, coming across as stern dashing Captain, coming across as stern voice that made Edelweiss a nighilght. Ellie Griffiths, from Bridgnorth, is one to watch for the future with one of the production's most pleasant voices as she confidently handled the role of eldest Von Trapp child, Liesl. Her Sixteen Going On Seventeen duet with Will Phipps (Rolf), another talented young performer, was delightful. The stokes in the comic role of the rogue six younger Von Trapp children were as good as any I have seen in a professional production. Take a bow Luke Bennett for the well-marshalled choreography. Antiques Roadshow BBC1, 8.30pm

Britain loves a good antique. You only have to take into consideration the longevity and popularity of this BBC stalwart show, itself something of a much-treasured oldie, to see that that much is true. This week, Fiona and the team wind up in Cheltenham Town Hall where they meet more hopefuls looking to learn the worth of their collectibles. As always, we get a glimpse of the weird and the wonderful, including a curious table from the famous local racecourse, and possibly the most important single historic document ever seen on the show.

Pick of the Week

An explosive evening is in store for the family

t's February 2011, and Twitter starts buzzing with requests from stars to watch Friday Night Dinner, the new sitcom from Robert Popper.

As a producer of Peep Show and script editor on The Inbetweeners, he certainly earned his comedy stripes, but at the time it was anyone's guess whether FND would be a hit.

It helped that Popper secured the services of two of the hottest talents in British comedy – Tamsin Greig (Black Books, Episodes) and Simon Bird (The Inbetweeners).

The fact it was backed by one of Blighty's most successful producers Nira Park (Shaun of the Dead, Hot Nira Park (Shaun of the Dead, Hot Fuzz), was an added bonus. (Popper has tiny roles in both movies in case you were wondering).

The concept of FND was simplicity itself each episode both place ever the creament of FND was simplicity itself each episode both place were the creament of the concept of FND was simplicity itself each episode both place with worth yound both place with place with the place of the place of

would orien steal the show.

Though only a secondary character, his turn as the Goodmans' neighbour Jim Bell – loosely inspired by one of Popper's neighbours, who acted like Salvador Dali – soon became must-see viewing, especially as Jim's interest with Jackie borders on obsessive.

That he was terrified of his own Belgian Shepherd, Wilson, also led to many hilarious interfudes. While some sitcoms such as The Big Bang Theory benefit from a high gag-per-minute count, others such as this show have more of a slow drip effect.

All of which brings us to this second run (Sunday, Channel 4, 10pm), and adhering to the well-worn formula "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," Mr Popper's sitcom is still milking the same formula of domestic awkwardness and nosey neighbours

This week, Grandma (Frances Cuka) introduces the family to her new boyfriend, but the seasoned curmudgeon soon upsets everyone with his rude behaviour.

Dad (Paul Ritter) cannot stand him and hides in his shed, but nobody is prepared for what happens when the guest suddenly loses his temper.

A good rule of thumb for any wordsmith is 'write what you know,' which may be one of the reasons Popper's semi-autobiographical sitcom touches a chord with millions, including his family.

including his family.
"It's very loosely based on them," he explained in one interview. "Although there are a few scenes which are completely, 100 per cent lifted from stuff that happened in my house."
Friday Night Dinner's success has not gone unnoticed across he Pond, and NBC has recently been planning a version for the all important.

MONDAY Classic Car Rescue

Channel 5, 8pm

When Ford unveiled their latest model, the Mustang, in 1964, the company's big cheeses hoped it would do well, but had no idea it would be their most successful vehicle since the Model A. Punters fell in love with it, and it soon became one of Hollywood's favourite vehicles too with models popping up in 007 epics Goldfinger and Diamonds are Forever, but perhaps the greatest showcase was 1968 classic Bullitt. Steve McQueer driving it through the streets of San Francisco left an indelible mark on the minds of millions. Can Bernie Fineman and Mario Pacione restore a nodel for this week's show? There's only one way to find out.

Sing for Your Life Channel 4, 8pm

Say what you like about Channel 4, but when they've got something to plug, there's nothing half-hearted about their efforts. And so this week, as they continue their fundraising campaign with Cancer Research UK, you're about to learn a heck of a lot more about terminal illnesses that claim eight million lives every year. This programme focuses on the Big C Choir which is made up of an inspiring group of people, who (yes, you've probably guessed), have all been or are receiving treatment for cancer. And while it's helped by the fact they're trained by the best (Emeli Sande and Russell Watson), it's not the easiest of challenges, as they juggle treatment sessions and

TUESDAY

Live International Football ITV1, 7.30pm

England continue their quest to reach the 2014 World Cup finals in Brazil, with this evening's Group H qualifier away to Poland, staged at the National Stadium in Warsaw. The match looks to be one of the most challenging for Roy Hodgson's men, as they face a Polish side aiming to impress their fans following a poor showing at Euro 2012, which they co-hosted with Ukraine, but crashed out of at the group stage without winning a game Poland played twice at this venue, drawing on each occasion, and will look to Borussia Dortmund striker Robert Lewandowski to add to his growing reputation against an England defence that will be without former captain John Terry, who has retired from international football.

WEDNESDAY Who Do You Think You Are? BBC1, 9pm

Although retired footballer John Barnes played internationally for England, he was born in Jamaica and lived there until he was 13. Unsurprisingly, he journeys back to the island of his birth to investigate his ancestors in the penultimate edition. Barnes pays particular attention to the role his grandfather played in Jamaica's fight for independence from Britain and during the Second World War. Barnes also wants to know why, after being so prominent, his relative eventually became unpopular with his former political allies. We've seen him impress on the pitch and swivel his hips on Strictly, but here we get to see yet another side to his personality.

Emmerdale at 40

The Yorkshire soap has been celebrating its 40th birthday with a week of drama featuring births, marriages and a death. But while fans may be busy speculating about who will die and whether Chas can really go through with saying 'I do' to Dan, it's also a good time to look back on some of the soap's biggest storylines from years gone by. This new series starts off with a look at the plots that grabbed the headlines.

including the 1993 story that saw Zoe Tate coming out to her old-fashioned, homophobic father - and some equally shocked viewers. Emmerdale at 40 also covers the arrival of Patsy Kensit as Sadie King, and the heartbreaking plot Ashley losing baby

Channel 5, 8pm
For many of us growing up in the 1970s, trucking was as dynamic as Disco, and in recent years the success of Ice Road Truckers and this show has helped rekindle that interest extra vehicular activities. And if you do like to keep on trucking, then you might be keen on Eddie Stobart's new eco-friendly trailer, which can hold 20 per cent more goods than a regular carrier. Mark Dixon tests it out, but soon discovers the additional capacity poses fresh challenges. Meanwhile in Southport, Jimmy Callaghan has trouble negotiating bollards, and the company's annual festival, one of the biggest events in the trucking calendar, leaves the drivers rather excited.

Cancer is no laughing matter, so like Comic Relief, there are bound to be a few serious moments in this info-tainment strand, which promises to

Your essential guide to the world of motoring compiled by Motoring Editor Sharon Walters

New Kia cee'd is set to be a big player in market sector

A FEW miles into my first drive of the latest Kia I told my co-driver that here's the sort of car I'd love to hire on holiday. I don't think he knew if that was a good thing, or

Well it was good, at least in every aspect that matters for a car like this estate version of the latest cee'd hatchback, now called a Sportswagon, in the way every new car seems to need a sporty connection (even when it doesn't).

There really isn't anything sporty about this Slovakian-built people mover, although with its sweptback face and boldly sculpted sides it does perhaps look fit enough for a couple of sets at the local tennis club.

More important in the real world are tennis club.

More important in the real world are going to be the practical advantages of choosing a Kia. Price is no longer one of them, even if they remain good value, like shopping in M&S we'll pay a bit more if we think the quality is there.

Kia judges the time is ripe to take the Europeans on at their own game and it would be a foolish (French or Italian) carmaker who did not agree, even with this latest model costing about ten per cent more than the SW it succeeds.

more than the SW it succeeds.

This latest load lugger is a little longer than before but narrower and less tall. The load bay is big, evenly shaped and quickly enlarged by flopping the rear seat-backs forward, to leave a completely flat floor.

Hidden underneath are a couple of shallow compartments and the top version adds sliding aluminium luggage area rails and a barrier net behind the rear seat. Every model has roof rails. Every model has roof rails

Appeal

Such is the anticipated appeal of the new-comer to fleet users that not a single petrol-powered Sportswagon is offered in the UK, where we have the choice of 1.4 or 1.6-litre diesels, hooked to six-speed manual gear boxes, with an auto option on one 1.6

Talking about prices, they range from £16,895 to £24,795 (with the estate about £1,000 more than the hatch) and the car comes in four flavours, from 1 to 4. Standard across the range are heated door darty across the range are heated door mirrors, air con, remote locking, iPod com-patible sound system and hill start control that keeps the car steady for a second or two as you release the handbrake on an incline. Pay more for versions 2, 3 and 4 and the goodies' count mounts, all the way to a heated steering wheel, huge panoramic sunroof and beautifully clear satellite navisurroor and occurrent saterine navigation system.

The new Kia cee'd, prices range from £16,895 to £24,795

So how does the newcomer feel on the road? The test drive started outside the factory where the car is built on production lines so busy with robots carrying and fitting panels you begin to wonder where the more than 3,000 workers (on three shifts to meet demand for new Kias) can be hiding.

As the Tatra mountains began to grow in

As the Fatta mountains began to grow in the far distance, the test car settled to a quiet 80mph cruise with most hints of sportiness absent from a pleasantly compli-sportiness absent from a pleasantly compitant suspension.

The dash quality is up there with any competitor, even if the minor readouts in red are all but invisible in the strong sunlight of a lovely Slovakian day.

The sort of day you dream about when booking your next holiday, where an easy-going car like the Sportswagon would do were nicely.

very nicely.

Leading

And that industry leading warranty would reassure in the gloom of an English winter evening as you crawl home through the slush with the wipers on overtime and the air con keeping the windows clear.

Most users of the new Sportswagon are likely to opt for the 1.6 engine. I saw 42mpg on my test; driving the smaller 1.4 the next day I topped 63mpg in a car that felt nimbler (more sporty!) and every bit as perky. It also costs a very reasonable £16,895 in far from basic '1' trim.

Mercedes applying the brake

PREDICTING what customers might want is one thing, but getting it right time after time is what really separates the successful car what really separates the successful car companies from the also-rans. 2003 saw Mercedes unveil what was, for its time, a radical four-door 'coupe'. The initial response to the firm's CLS was a lot of puzzled faces. How things have changed. Now into its second generation and having triggered a handful of me-too cars, Mercedes had added a niche within a niche in the shape of a CLS Shooting Brake. Really it's just a posh alternative to an estate car, but this CLS looks better than your average big box on wheels. That's the point. The CLS has succeeded because there are enough people who want the practicality of a big saloon but also want something more stylish.

are enough people who want the practicality of a big saloon but also want something more stylish.

The same logic supports the Shooting Brake concept—with 590 litres of space in regular trim and 1,550 litres with the rear seats folded, it's no four-wheeled trinket but a capable load-lugger for all but the most demanding owners. To satisfy the fashionistas there's not a straight line to be seen anywhere.

Well, that's not strictly true as you'll see plenty of straight lines if you opt for the wood decking for the rear load space. Yes, you can buy a CLS wagon with a wood floor. Proof, if you needed it, that Mercedes is aiming high in the style stakes with this streamlined station wagon.

Yet, for all the car's sesthetic attributes, the CLS Shoot-you needed it, that Mercedes is aiming high in the style stakes with this streamlined station wagon.

Yet, for all the car's aesthetic attributes, the CLS Shooting Brake easily appeals to your practical side.

Like its four-door cousin, the Shooting Brake swallows a full complement of adults. The headlining in the back has a cutout section to boost headroom, while the rear doors open wide enough to make getting in and out straightforward.

Up front the instruments, controls and layout will be familiar to CLS and E-Class fans, and it's top marks for the quality and design of the materials in the cabin. Leather chairs are standard, although the CLS wouldn't be a Mercedes if there wasn't a long list of tempting options.

The two trim levels – regular and AMG Sport – offer a good level of equipment, including leather upholstery, satnay, alloy wheels, climate control, seven-speed auto gearbox and plenty of safety kit.

The AMG Sport variants include a subtle bodykit, sportier suspension, larger alloy wheels and LED headlights. Audio upgrades, contrasting cabin trim choices, different leather and wheels plus a host of other comfort and safety kit form the bulk of the cost options.

Mercedes has sensibly limited the choice of engines to three – two diesel and one petrol.

safety kit form the bulk of the cost options.

Mercedes has sensibly limited the choice of engines to three – two diesel and one petrol.

Being an estate car of sorts, diesel makes a lot of sense, and Mercedes' popular 250 and 350 CDI units offer affordable and more than adequate performance, while economy and emissions ratings are close enough to pick the more powerful motor with a relatively clean conscience.

The 250 and 350 CDI diesel engines output a reasonable 201bhp and healthy 261bhp respectively, plus 53.3mpg and 135g/km CO2 for the smaller four-cylinder engine and 47.1mpg and 161g/km for the six-cylinder motor.

That petrol engine? It's Mercedes' new 5.5-litre turbo AMG unit, which means 549bhp through the rear wheels and a noise that'll frighten small children.

Those diesel offerings will be kinder on your finances, with the 250 CDI providing a balance of economy and cruising ability and the more powerful 350 CDI delivering an extra slug of power and torque to make light work of hills, hauling kit and high-speed motoring.

Factor in the car's well-judged suspension – including air springs at the rear, long wheelbase, variable assistance steering and smart auto gearbox – and it's hard not to find the CLS a soothing and rewarding experience.

The CLS Shooting Brake boasts a larger than life personality. Its bold looks and surprisingly practical layout ensures that it's destined for great things.

In 2003 the original car caught many by surprise, but this Shooting Brake is a welcome and timely addition to the CLS range.

Model: Mercedes-Benz CLS 350 CDI Shooting Brake, from £53,000 on the road. Engine: 3.0-litre diesel unit developing 261bhp. Transmission: Seven-speed automatic trans-mission as standard, driving the rear wheels.

Performance: Maximum speed 155mph, 0-62mph 6.6 seconds. Economy: 47.1mpg. CO2 Rating: 161g/km.

Jaguar's XKR harks back to heritage

JAGUAR'S iconic XK coupe is the car which reminded the motoring public (and perhaps the company's executives too) of the British marque's unique sporting heritage.

Back in 1996 it was powered by the Midland carmaker's first eight cylinder engine, the AJ:V8, under the sleekest, sexiest bonnet ever to come out of Coventry.

That original model, the XKS, evolved into the even more powerful XK with the V8's capacity increased to a full five litres, plus the faster and more dynamic XKR and, firmly in supercrat territory.

and more dynamic XKR and, firmly in supercar territory, the flagship 'S' model.

The XKR is a consummate grand tourer but with the heart of a true sports car.

It's as luxurious as a premium saloon (although the rear seats are really only suitable for children) and its boot has space for enough leather-clad luggage for your trip to Monaco.

The principal difference between the 'R' and the standard XK (apart from £13,500 extra on the price £13,500 extra on the price tag) is performance and handling. The dling.

The retuned, super-charged V8 produces 510hbp and 625Nm of torque (com-pared to 385 and 380 respec-tively) and the electronic speed limiter has been reset from 155 to 174mph.

Party

That's largely academic these days, of course, but more importantly the 0 to 60 sprint time is down from 5.5 to 4.6 seconds.
But its real party piece is

But its real party piece is stunning in-gear accelera-tion – the 50 to 70mph 'over-taking band' takes a mere 2.5 seconds which is an achievement few cars can achievement few cars can match.

And what's more, the refined nature of the XKR make it all feel effortless.

The rear spoiler and air vents in the bonnet and front wings are the biggest visual clues to separating the XKR from the XK, although afficionados will notice it sits lower on the suspension.

The uprated suspension is stiffer, too, but while you do notice it driver and passenger comfort suffers little because you have the cushioning effect of superbly shaped leather armchairs.

ity, cornering holding. Tt's what sports car drivers not only expect but demand, as is the glorious, growling crescendo from the V8 as you feed in the power.

By John Griffiths

The six-speed automatic transmission can handle anything you throw at it, from crawling in traffic to a a full throttle 'kickdown' for a full throttle kickdown for rocket ship overtaking, in smooth and rapid style.

Since this is a sports car, aimed at the more enthusiastic driver, there's the option of changing gear manually using the up/down paddles on either side of the steering wheel.

Being a very powerful rear wheel drive car, the XKR naturally comes with the latest electronic driving aids to save you from yourself, such as traction and stability systems, and an adaptive systems, and an adaptive emergency.

There are uprated brakes, There are uprated brakes, too, and improved aerodynamics which not only help to improve roadholding but perhaps also make the car a little quieter – although unless you're handing out heavy helpings of throttle the XKR cruises at pretty much a whisper anyway.

The leather seats aren't only electrically adjustment, they come with their own ventilated system for heating or cooling.

That's as well as climate control and even a heated steering wheel.

SatNav, operated by a large touch screen console, a premium sound system and even an interior mirror which automatically dims to stop you being dazzled are also part of the picture.

itself to a 75th birthday present in the shape of two New Actros tractor units from Mercedes-Benz dealer Midlands Truck & Van.

They have taken pride of place in the West Bromwich-based company's spot hire fleet.

The new trucks are 1845 models and designed to achieve maximum fuel-efficiency. Features include state-of-the-art 450hp engines which drive through the latest Mercedes Power-Shift 3 automated transmissions, and aerodynamic, flat-floored StreamSpace cabs.

Both also have "75th anniversary" decals above their wind-

Fred Smith & Sons was founded in 1937, when Mr Smith's great-grandfather set up his own coachbuilding business in Lyng Lane, West Bromwich.

Today Clarke Smith's brother Greg is managing director and their cousin James company secretary, while three other members of the Smith family also play active roles in the business and sit on the board.

Fred Smith & Sons moved in 1977 to its current head office on nearby Sams Lane, where it manufactures a full range of dry freight and refrigerated bodywork for trucks and vans, and provides specialist paint and repair services for cars as well as commercial vehicles.

Its MoT and servicing division continues to operate from the original Lyng Lane premises, and the rental operation is based at a third site on Kelvin Way.

The rental fleet extends to some 320 vans, trucks and trailers – a proportion of these are assigned to customers on fixed contracts, but most are available for short-term hire. In addition to the two New Actros the rental fleet includes a number of 18 and 26-tonne Mercedes-Benz Axor rigids supplied over the last couple of years by Midlands Truck & Van, Wolverhampton, which is also due to deliver another 18-tonner shortly. "We fit these vehicles with our own bodies and maintain them in house," added Mr Smith. "But the dealer's sales service, and parts and warranty back-up are first class."

If roses grow in Heaven Lord please pick a bunch for me please pick a bunch for me, place them in my Wife's arms and tell her they're from me. Tell her I love her and miss her and when she turns to smile, place a kiss upon her cheek and hold her for awhile. I feel a warmth around me, like your presence is so near and I close my eyes to visualise your face when you were here. I endure the times we spent together and they are locked inside my heart, for as long as I have those memories we will never be apart.

Love and miss you so much, Tim, Louise, Lauren and Mitchell.

Those who have a Mother, cherish her with care, for you never know the heartache till you see her vacant chair.

Love you now and always Mom, Kenny, Viv and Rebecca. XXX

Life is not like a box of chocolates, it isn't always sweet and rich, it may have some nuts but it's not like a box of chocolates.
Your life was like a pack of cards, it had the diamonds that sparkled in your eyes. The clubs where Family and Friends met and laughed, where memories were created. The spades that dug long lasting Friendships that have rooted firmly within in them. Cards are played close to your heart and that is where your remain, close to ours. They're played around a table, that hosts laughs and fond times that will never be forgotten. Cards if placed carefully and with patience build a strong that will never be forgotten. Cards if placed carefully and with patience build a strong busses that will never be forgotten that will always be rebuilt the way you taught us. God saw her getting tired, a cure was not to be. He wrapped her in His loving arms and whispered come with Me. She suffered much in silence, her spirit did not bend, she faced her pain with courage until the very end. She tried so hard to stay with us but her fight was not in vain, God took her to His loving home and freed her from the pain. God saw you getting weary, so He put His arms around you and whispered come to Me.
